

Hold Meeting
Concerning Rabies
Quarantine Areas

"All law enforcement officers must be ever alert to the stray animals in the area," Dr. H. C. Schults, Illinois State Department of Agriculture stated at a meeting held in the South Chicago Heights Village Hall, December 16. The meeting was called by Dr. John B. Hall, Director, Cook County Department of Public Health, to coordinate enforcement of activities in the quarantined areas of Bremen, Thornton, Bloom and Rich townships of Cook County and Crete and Monee Townships, Will County. Dr. Schults continued, "law enforcement officers are fully protected in any measures desired to eliminate stray dogs and are liable if they do not enforce the quarantine."

This quarantine was imposed by the Illinois State Department of Agriculture because of the excessive number of dogs that have been found to have rabies in that area. In the quarantined area of Cook county, 28 animals have been found to have rabies since April 23, 1953 from examinations made by the Illinois Department of Public Health Laboratories.

There was also discussion by Dr. Schults of the New Rabies Control Law which will become effective June 1, 1954. Present at the meeting were: R. R. Smith, South Chicago Heights; M. Plasic, Park Forest; Fred Pedersen, Monee township; Armon A. Tosi, Acting Chief South Chicago Heights; H. J. Dohmad, Crete, Ill.; Alva Hickman, Trustee Steger; Dr. H. C. Mokena Woman's Cousin Flew on POW
Mission to Korea

The reporter who accompanied Mrs. Portia Hall, of Minneapolis, on her trip to Korea to try to persuade her son, Richard Tennyson, to abandon communism and return to this country, is a cousin of Mrs. Jack Schaub, of Mokena. He is George Grim, of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, whose news stories appear from time to time in the Chicago Daily News.

Upon arrival in Japan, Mrs. Hall was not permitted to leave for Korea to speak to her son, who is a prisoner of war of the Reds who refused repatriation. The army banned her visit on the grounds that it might interfere with peace negotiations. Mrs. Hall has since returned from her fruitless mission, but Mr. Grim did not return with her.

Swanbergs Have '54
Calendar-Catalogue

The 1954 Yearbook published by the Minneapolis-Moline company, is being distributed to box holders. Announcement was made by Swanberg Farm and Auto Service Co., Minneapolis-Moline dealer, Mokena.

It is a 28 page combination calendar-catalog printed in four colors and features MM's entire line of farm equipment. It uses full-color illustrations to highlight each machine and implement.

The Yearbook incorporates a new design feature. The calendar portion of each sheet extends below the cover illustration and can be easily removed at the end of each month. On the reverse side of the calendar portions are coupons for company literature and a premium offer.

It points out how farm machinery, in the last 40 years, has nearly doubled the output of the nation's farms. It shows how the local farm equipment dealer has become a key man in farm mechanization.

The message highlights farming as this country's one basic industry. It reads "In Colonial Days, 85 farm workers produced just enough food for themselves and 15 non-farm workers."

"Today, 15 farmers produce for both themselves and 85 others."

MM through its dealers will distribute 1 1/2 million copies of the yearbook.

PUBLISHER AND STAFF

A Brand New Year Ahead

A brand new year ahead for us.
To do the best we can,
A year in which to forge ahead,
This is God's gift to man.

For time is just like money,
And each day is for us to spend,
In doing things that we should do,
Only time we cannot lend.

For if we use our time wisely,
Or if we waste it away,
It passes by so quickly,
And twenty-four hours is a day.

A golden day, made up of seconds,
And minutes and hours too,
And what you do with each minute,
Is entirely up to you.

So if life is just as you want it,
Live each day as it comes along,
But if you wish you could change it,
Now's your chance to 'right the wrong'.

Don't worry about things that might happen,
Just do the best that you can,
With this brand New Year ahead of you,
For it's God's gift to man.

HAZEL ADELMAN, Homer Twp.

'HE SAID HE WAS SANTA'
MAKES BIG HIT

The Mokena grade school's annual Christmas program, an operetta entitled "He Said He Was Santa", was held Tuesday evening, Dec. 22, and proved to be a tremendous success. It was produced by the teachers and the complete faculty, with Mr. E. W. Reed, musical director, assisting. Every child in the school had a part.

The entertainment opened with selections by the school orchestra which surprised the audience by their remarkable performance. By way of introduction, Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, principal, explained the program and thanked all the teachers for their many weeks of hard work, and the parents who assisted, as well as all who took any part in the production.

The play depicted Santa Claus lost and half frozen in the Swiss Alps, finally found by gnomes and taken to the home of their chief. They had quite a time handling Santa Claus.

The play depicted those who aided Santa Claus as toys, soldiers, dolls, puppies, clowns, stick horses, candles and snow flakes. All these were depicted by children of the lower grades who played their parts wonderfully well. As each child came to the stage they sang their songs.

The finale was a beautiful scene in which all the pupils of the upper grades were massed in tiers from the stage to the auditorium floor, singing Christmas carols. The chorus climaxed it with "Here Comes Santa Claus", who then made his appearance and greeted the children gathered around the Christmas tree. He presented them with gifts, which had been supplied by the Mokena PTA.

NSC ANNOUNCES
1954 TRAFFIC
SAFETY CONT'ST

Nominations are open for 1954 Carol Lane awards for traffic safety, to be given in October by the National Safety Council through a grant of the Shell Oil company.

Worthwhile safety accomplishments will earn for an American woman, Woman's club or parents' organization a first prize of a $1000 defense bond and a bronze "safety Oscar" commissioned from a noted sculptor.

Three other women and three other clubs will receive honorable mention awards consisting of a plaque containing a bronze bas-relief of the "Oscar". The four individual winners and representatives of the four winning clubs will receive expense paid trips to Chicago for the National Safety Congress, where they will be entertained and formally receive their awards.

The prizes will be presented to those organizing and fostering the most outstanding traffic safety program in a community or state. According to the council, achievements of women in small towns, rural and metropolitan sections are of equal importance in selection of winners as long as they represent worth while safety accomplishments.

Information and nomination blanks may be obtained by writing Alice Mills, director of women's activities, National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan ave., Chicago 11. Nominations can be made through June 30. Any American woman, or women's or parents' club not professionally employed in the promotion of traffic safety is eligible for the awards.

A woman may nominate herself as an entry, be nominated by another individual or by an organization. A club may be nominated as an entry by its president, by any other individual or by another organization. "The Carol Lane awards have revealed the effectiveness of women in helping to reduce the tragic waste of life on the nation's highways," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president. "Women are giving invaluable support to official agencies, schools and others, and in some cases have inspired entire community programs."

"Women have improved traffic conditions in their communities through such projects as pedestrian training, driver training courses for high school students, reflectorizing and inspection of bicycles, improvement of traffic laws, enforcement of regulations, and schools for bus drivers," he said.

Seek Land to Join Calumet, Tri-State

Cook county has filed suit in Circuit Court to condemn about 250 parcels of land needed to extend the Calumet expressway so that it will connect with the Tri-State expressway. The hearing date has not been set.

According to James F. Kelly, assistant superintendent of the county highway department, the extension is a major county highway project scheduled for 1954. The land involved, he said, extends for nine blocks from 204th street south to the Michigan Central railroad. Another section consists of about four and one-half blocks. All but one parcel are old subdivisions of Chicago Heights that never got past the dream stage, said Kelly.

The appraised value of lots needed for the expressway extension is comparatively small. It was said. The average is $150, with some going up to $300 and higher.

A "vigorous effort" to find the owners was made by the land procurement division of the county highway department, but was mainly unsuccessful. On some lots taxes were paid up to 1918 and others up to 1923. Many have been unpaid for 50 years.

HOW I WISH

By Whitney Carter

Oh, How I wish that I could sail to some place far away...

And how I wish that you were near, to love and cherish, day

by day...

And how I wish that all the stars would cast their magic spell...

And let me dream of you dear heart... and on some enchant-isle forever dwell...

And I wish when clouds hang low over rain swept fields...

And the rose looks up and buds and yields...

Ah, please Almighty God... Do the watching I cannot do... As you to...

And may I be forgiven of any thing I failed to do... As you called my sweetheart when I was only half way through...

CARD OF THANKS

Again I wish to thank all my

Your Farm Problem

By Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture.

This nation has a serious farm problem. It does not affect agriculture alone. It is everybody's problem. Today your government has approximately $5 billions of your money invested in farm commodities.

You own outright more than $2.5 billions worth of wheat, corn, cotton and other surplus farm products. You have outstanding loans on agricultural commodities totaling about the same amount. This figure is growing daily.

You are paying more than $14 millions each month just to store these surpluses. This bill is growing, too, as additional inventories are accumulated by your government.

The losses which your government sustained in disposing of just a small portion of your holdings during the first three months of this fiscal year amounted to $47 millions.

But, you ask, don't we have a farm program designed to insure agricultural prosperity and prevent the very situation we find ourselves in today?

The answer is that we are operating under the same farm program we had last year and for several previous years. Actually we have strengthened it in several important respects to permit farmers to take broader advantage of its provisions. Existing legislation binds us to a continuation of price supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities through the 1954 crop year.

Nevertheless, farm prices have declined steadily from the record peaks established under the impetus of the Korean war in February, 1951. During the 12 months immediately before I became Secretary of Agriculture the farm price parity ratio slid from 113 to 95 percent. Since February of this year, prices have been more stable than in 1952, averaging about 93 per cent of parity.

This story of declining farm income and mounting agricultural surpluses is the best evidence that our present program is not functioning effectively.

For more than a decade, our farmers have been producing under pressure. To meet the wartime needs of ourselves and our allies, they turned out record amounts of food and fiber between 1941 and 1946. With the end of the second World War, they were asked to provide the commodities required in the rehabilitation of Europe and other sections of the earth. Then came the Korean War, with new and heavy demands for farm goods of all kinds.

Suddenly this situation was radically altered. World food production had been climbing since 1946. By 1952 this was exerting strong pressure in the market places. Our wheat exports dropped by one third in a single year, cotton by even more. Not only had importing nations increased their own production, but they found that they could supply their reduced needs at lower prices from exporting countries which had no farm price support program.

Just as many American consumers have turned from butter to less expensive spreads, so have other nations sought cheaper wheat, cotton and other products.

We have learned through sometimes bitter experience that when the farmer is in trouble, there is likely to be trouble ahead for everybody. This year, net farm income is expected to be nearly $1 billion less than it was in 1952. And in 1952 it was more than $1 billion below the preceding year. While farm income has been dropping, our total national income has actually increased.

This disparity cannot continue in an economy such as ours. When the farmer can't buy the products of industry, there are serious dislocations.

How we got into this situation is not as important, at the moment, as what we propose to do about it. I have outlined here some of the major problems facing agriculture. In a subsequent article, I should like to discuss some of the possible solutions.

600,000 Veterans Going to School

(CNS) Going to school and college still is popular with the GI. Nearly 29,000 Illinois veterans are enrolled this fall in the state's schools and training establishments under Veterans Administration training programs. The national figure is almost 600,000.

The figures were released by Robert Beer, VA regional office manager. The Illinois total includes a record breaking 12,500 veterans taking training under the 14 month old Korean GI bill, he said. Another 15,800 are World War Two veterans still enrolled under the original GI bill. Of the rest, 450 are disabled veterans of World War Two studying under Public Law 16, and 250 are veteran trainees disabled in service since fighting started in Korea.

The current number of Korean GI trainees in Illinois has more than doubled the previous peak of the new GI training program, which was reached this past May with 5,500 veterans.

College training has been the most popular choice among Korean veterans. Of the total, 7,000 veterans or 56 per cent are enrolled in institutions of higher learning. Another 3,300 are in schools below college level; 1,400 are training on the job; and 800 are taking institutional on farm training, a combination of classroom work and actual farming experience.

The number of World War Two trainees represents the lowest GI Bill fall enrollment since 1945, when that program was just getting under way. This fall's enrollment in this group is a little more than half of what it was a year ago.

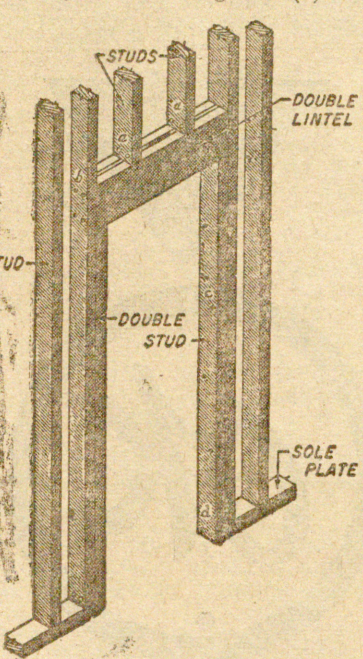

A 1951 cutoff date, under the law, has virtually put a stop to new enrollments under the World War Two program. Veterans, still in training, for the most part, are those who started before the deadline and who have remained in training since. The World War Two program ends, for nearly all veterans, in July of 1956.

To Frame Door Opening

HOME craftsmen on occasion need to frame a door opening in a wall or a partition. American Builder, trade magazine authority on building construction, offers the correct procedure, quoted here, and the accompanying illustration.

Studs (a) above the opening are toenailed to each part of the lintel with 10-penny nails. The long studs (b) are nailed to ends of each part of lintel with two 10-penny nails and toenailed to the sole plate with two 10-penny nails.

The double studs (c) are nailed together with 10-penny nails spaced 16 inches and staggered as shown. Studs alongside the opening (d) are nailed into the end of the sole plate with two 10-penny nails. Note that studs supporting the lintel do not rest on sole plate but on subfloor and joists.

Extensive mechanization by the bituminous coal industry has greatly increased productivity.

Once again, during this holiday season, the railroads were called upon to do a transportation job of almost incredible size.

Beginning December 1, their mail load averaged nearly 250,000 parcels and greeting cards each day. And it continued at that pace until Christmas.

The Post Office Department estimated that during the 24-day pre-Christmas period this year's intercity mail—the great bulk of which moves by rail—totalled about 5,796,000,000 pieces. That is equivalent to delivering an average of more than one package or card each day to every person in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

To handle that enormous volume, the railroads provided 3,760,162 square feet of mail car space—a footage equal to 62,669 standard sized mail cars. These cars, in turn, made up more than 5,200 solid mail trains of 12 cars each.

Tinley at Ingalls Memorial in Nov. Christmas and the

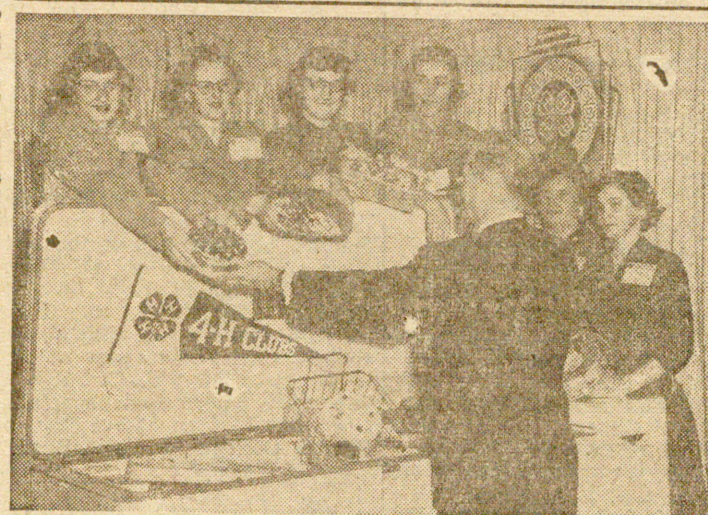

A total of 665 patients were hospitalized at Ingalls Memorial during November and 886 outpatients were treated. Hospitalized patients included 408 adults, 132 children, and 125 newborns. There were 235 operations performed during the month and 132 emergency room cases were admitted. 60 blood transfusions were administered.

The dietary department served 12,480 meals to patients and hospital staff and 3105 days of hospital care were given in all.

The laboratory made 2124 examinations and 74 electrocardiograms. The x-ray department made 910 examinations and gave 209 x-ray and diathermy treatments.

20 of the patients hospitalized at Ingalls Memorial during November were Tinley Park residents, 12 were from Oak Forest, and 23 from Markham.

4-H Frozen Foods Winners

National winners of the 1953 4-H Frozen Foods Program, of which International Harvester Company is the donor of awards, show samples of their work, prepared as Christmas gifts, to F. W. Jenks, vice-president, merchandising services, International Harvester, during the 32nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

These six girls each won an all-expense trip to the 32nd annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and a $300 International Harvester scholarship, acceptable at any accredited agricultural college.

The purpose of the 4-H Frozen Foods Awards Program, conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, is to encourage 4-H Club members to attain top proficiency in freezing foods for the home.

Adhering to the convention theme of "Working Together for World Understanding," Miss Cummings has packed 1,768 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and 19,284 pounds of meat since 1949. Miss Liss has frozen 7,917 pounds of meat and poultry, and 559 quarts of fruits and vegetables. Miss Dedert, in nine years of 4-H activity, has prepared for freezing 3,561 pounds, 1,410 containers and 786 packages of fruits, vegetables, meats and bakery goods.

Miss Honey, also a nine year 4-H member, has frozen 1,128 pints of fruit and vegetables, 1,423 pounds of meat. Miss Ryman, a seven year 4-H member, has frozen 506 containers of vegetables, 280 containers of fruit, 2,466 pounds of meat, 420 packages of sandwiches, 366 cakes, and 470 packages of rolls and breads. Miss Grant, a seven year 4-H member, has frozen 2,181 pounds of meat, 1,511 quarts of vegetables, 906 quarts of fruit, and 201 packages of other foods.

Commenting on International Harvester's participation in the national 4-H movement, which he had witnessed from its modest beginnings up to the present day, when delegates to the 32nd National 4-H Club Congress represent more than 2,000,000 others back home, John L. McCaffrey, president, said that 4-H has become a tradition with thousands and thousands of farm families—a heritage parents have passed on to their children.

"Many of these parents remain in 4-H themselves as active adult leaders," he said.

Posing a question to the assembled young folks at Harvester's luncheon, given for delegates and leaders attending the 32nd Congress, Mr. McCaffrey asked how many had parents who previously were members of 4-H when they were girls and boys.

Witnessing a sizable response in raised hands, he added:

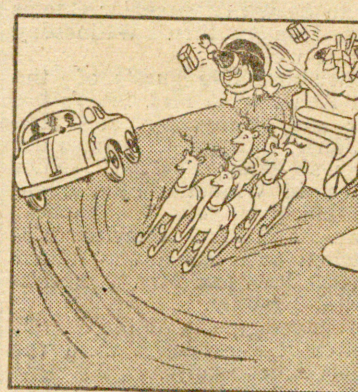

"This continuing family interest in 4-H projects, year after year, is one of the fundamental reasons for your success and growth. I should like to stress again the importance of continuing your interest in 4-H. You will hardly find a more constructive field in which to work for the betterment of your communities and your nation," he concluded.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State

The end-of-the-year holiday season is here again, and it is an excellent time for every driver to take an extra moment before he starts any automobile journey, long or short, to say to himself, "This is a dangerous time to be driving; I must be extra careful."

Many things conspire to make the Christmas and New Year period a dangerous one on the streets and highways. The hours of daylight each day are at just about the minimum for the year. Driving conditions can become bad in a short length of time. A snowstorm can change good visibility and dry roads into poor visibility and slippery roads in just a few minutes. More cars are on the streets and roads.

A new factor, though, is that there is a spirit of gaiety and festivity in the air. It is a happy time of the year. Most of us are remembering pleasant experiences or anticipating new ones. Our attention to the serious business of driving can be distracted.

But we cannot afford to let it be distracted. We must keep it focused on our driving, so the happy holiday season will not become a tragic one.

HAMS Must Be Well Cooked
If there are no cooking directions with the cured ham you bought, be sure to ask the butcher about cooking it. Most likely it is a tenderized ham instead of a long cured one. Even so, some tenderized hams are cooked while others are not, so it is best to know just what kind you have says food specialist Geraldine Acker, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

FIX-UP TIPS
For Farm and Home

Make Your Own Workbench!
EVERYBODY'S doing it nowadays—home repairs and general fix-up, that is. Every home craftsman needs working space for these endeavors. The minimum space required is a workbench. If there's a workshop, it's usually built around the bench.

Project No. 1 for the home craftsman is a workbench—if he has none or the old one is inadequate. Illustrated is a sturdy model which he can build from a free plan. This bench is 26 1/2" wide and may be up to 6 feet long; it has two closed compartments and four roomy drawers.

Much of the bench's sturdiness (it will last for years and years) is due to the Tempered Presdwood used for the working surface and for covering the lumber framing. Even the doors and the drawer bottoms utilize this extremely dense, durable material. Tempered Presdwood was used in World War II as parts of America's speedy and deadly PT boats. Workbenches in thousands of industrial plants are covered with this versatile exploded-wood product.

To obtain free plans and step-by-step directions for making this workbench, simply mail a postal to Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, and request a copy of the Hall workbench.

PILGRIM MISS

Lovely Lori Nelson dons pilgrim attire to observe Thanksgiving Day. She's on screen currently with Tony Curtis in "The All American" and will star with Audie Murphy in "Tumbleweed."

A BOY TO WATCH!

For those who like to speculate on movie futures, here's a boy to watch. He's Gregg Palmer, being groomed for stardom by Universal-International Studios. A San Franciscan, Gregg is seen in "The Golden Blade," "Veils of Bagdad" and "The All American" and is now before the cameras in "Magnificent Obsession."

WHICH IS TONY?

One of the faces in this pile-up belongs to a movie star—the other three are real-life gridiron greats. Which is which? Top to bottom: Al Carmichael, Jim Sears, Tony Curtis, Frank Gifford. All appear in "The All American," starring Tony with Lori Nelson.

Two Divisions of Illinois National Guard Consolidated

(CNS) Governor Stratton has announced the consolidation of the two infantry divisions of the Illinois National Guard.

He says this will mean a savings of about $3,132,000 to state taxpayers in the next two years.

Steps will be taken immediately to determine which units of the new 33rd division will be assigned to downstate areas and which will remain in Cook county, he said.

The state's other national guard division, the 44th infantry division, has been in federal service since Feb. 12, 1952. Stratton disclosed that Illinois has released the 44th back to the government. Most of the officers and enlisted men of that division have returned home after seeing federal service since early 1952.

Stratton says they'll be given an opportunity to return to the Illinois guard's 33rd division when it is realigned early next year. At present, the 33rd is composed of units in Cook county while the 44th was made up of downstate units.

Social Security in Effect 17 Years

Just 17 years ago the first social security account number was issued to a New England woman worker. Since then, over 100 million persons have been assigned account numbers and over 5 1/2 million beneficiaries are now receiving payments, totaling about 233 million dollars a month, according to Joseph B.
Harper, manager of the Harvey,
Illinois social security office.

Every single one of these benefits depended on some individual worker's social account number, and the wages that were recorded to his account.
Each social security card represents a Government insurance account, and the number on a card is the key that makes it possible for the Government to keep that particular social security record correct.

It is the worker's responsibility to show his social security card to his employer, Mr. Harper emphasized. Also, the worker is responsible to himself and his family for safeguarding his card. If he should lose his card, he should immediately get a duplicate at the local social security office. He or she should also register with the social security office any change in the name under which they work.

The Harvey office manager realizes that to the young, old age seems a long way ahead.
For this reason, he says, a lot of young people do not fully understand the importance of their social security account-number card. They fail to realize that the social security insurance system is both for the old, and for survivors of a wage earner who dies at any age. Credit for part-time employment may lead to full-time benefits at a later date;
for this reason, he says, credit for part-time jobs is included on the worker's account just as for full-time employment.

Mr. Harper calls attention to these very important rules to observe about your social security account-number card. (1) Show it to every employer you work for—the employer needs your number when he makes out his quarterly report of your wages and pays social security taxes so that your account will be credited properly. (2) Keep your card in a safe place. When you or your family claim benefits, the number will make it easy to identify your account. (3) Make sure you have only one social security account number. If you have more than one number, part of your wages might be credited to one account and part to one or more others. Your

HOLDING LINE ON "ALL AMERICAN"

"The All American," Universal-International's football thriller and campus romance, inspired this character delineation by Jacques Kapralik. Left to right — Lori Nelson and Tony Curtis, stars of the movie, and Mamie Van Doren, who is featured in her very first movie role. Also featured are such real-life gridiron greats as Herman Hickman, Donn Moomaw, Frank Gifford, Jim Sears and many more.

"Mankind, My Business"

Annually at the anniversary of Jesus' birth, millions read Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol." Millions of others will listen on the air to Lionel Barrymore as he perennially interprets miserly Scrooge, both villain and hero of the tale.

It is well to read the immortal little story about mean, grasping, penny-pinching Scrooge whose sharp mind is continually dreaming dreams and seeing visions. To him appears the ghost of his former partner, Jacob Marley. In life Jacob Marley had been as hard as nails and as stingy and paltry as old Scrooge himself.

Now from the world of shadows, Marley's ghost does his utmost to save parsimonious Scrooge from the disaster which had inevitably overtaken him. As the ghost wrings his hands and deplures the shortcomings and omissions of the life he had lived on earth, Scrooge manages to inject these words, falteringly and with quavering voice: "But you were always a good man of business, Jacob."

The rejoinder from the ghost of Jacob Marley supplies an effective commentary on the great avocation before us at Christmastide:

"Business," cried the ghost, wringing his hands again. "Mankind was my business. The common welfare was my business; charity, mercy, forbearance, benevolence, were all my business. The dealings of my trade were but a drop of water in the comprehensive ocean of my business!"

And so it was!
And so it may be!

HORN THAT ECHOES OUT OF PAST

"The Glenn Miller Story," one of the great biographical movies of modern times, will reach the screen early in 1954 with James Stewart playing the Miller role — as the personal selection of the musician's widow. Here Mrs. Glenn Miller, who withheld her husband's story from the screen for a decade because she "was afraid they would do a jazz version of his career," presents Glenn's own trombone to Jimmy for the film. Mrs. Miller will be played on screen by June Allyson.

number is the key to the record of your earnings, which will determine the amount of the payments to which you or your family become entitled.

Enjoy Pecans — They're Plentiful

Orange pecans are a delicacy that are as easy to make as they are to eat. That's why they rank high with Mrs. Glenna Lamkin, foods specialist at the University of Illinois. With pecans so plentiful this year, they can add a lot of interest to your midwinter nibbling.

To make orange pecans, cook one cup of sugar and one-half cup of water to the soft-ball stage. Then add the grated rind of one orange, two tablespoons of tart orange juice, one half teaspoon of salt and two cups of pecan halves.

Remove from the heat and stir with a wooden spoon until the sugar crystallizes. Turn onto a plate and separate the nuts with two forks, having each nut coated with the orange-sugar mixture.

Illinois with 284 proved herd sires ranked fourth among all 48 states in 1953 in number of dairy bulls proved, says a University of Illinois dairyman.

Cut feed costs by feeding cows according to individual production or by reducing the cost of your grain mixtures.

New Transportation Center Established at Northwestern U.

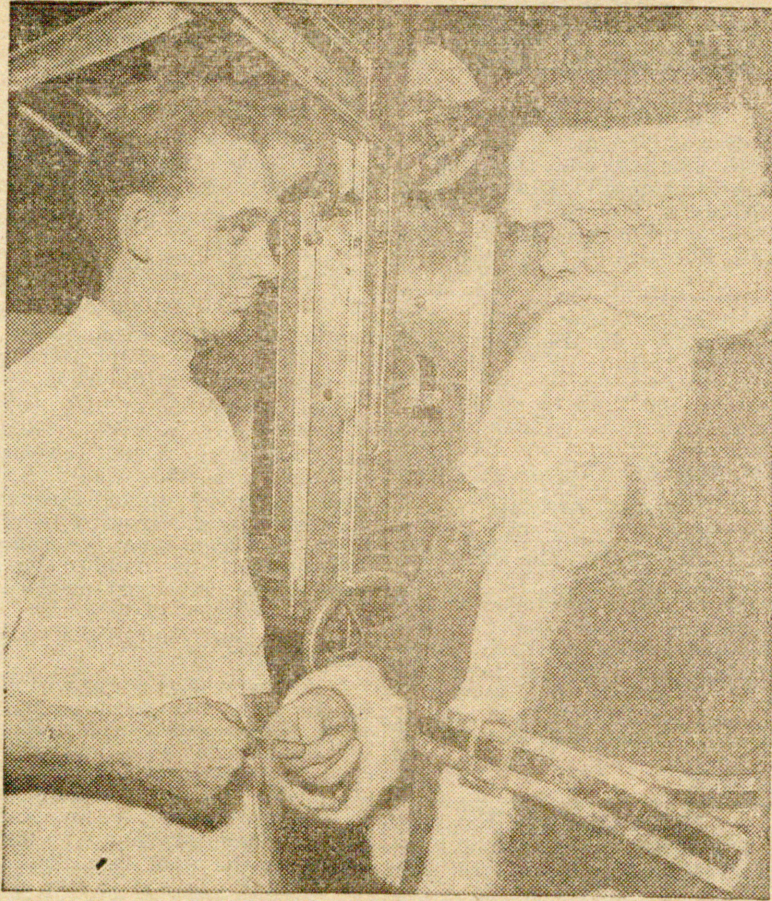

The establishment of a national Transportation Center at Northwestern University was announced today by President J. Roscoe Miller.
 The new Center will carry on a program of research, undergraduate training, and graduate study aimed at the solution of major problems in the highway, rail, air, pipeline and water divisions of the nation's transportation industry.
 The Center is a joint undertaking of the University's School of Commerce, Technological Institute, and Traffic Institute. Several other divisions of the University will also participate.

An oil company is experimenting with a paint which changes color with temperature variations. Applied to boilers and heating equipment, the paint provides at a glance an indication of the inside temperature. On an engine the paint will tell the temperature of the various parts.

Keep Profits Up By Maintaining Soil Fertility

FARMERS who want to "save money" on fertilizer wind up by losing profit from lower yields that boost costs per bushel, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing a recent statement by Dr. E. P. Reed, Ohio State University extension agronomist.
 Reed reports that he "sees no reason at present to apply less than recommended amounts of fertilizer."
 "When farmers keep yields up, they maintain soil productivity as well as reduce costs per unit."
 "As you increase yields, the unit cost of production decreases, whether the units are bushels, pounds or tons. This is true until you reach the point of diminishing returns. And we haven't reached that point yet."
 "Even when farm prices are low we should try to apply recommended amounts to maintain yields."
 "Farmers cannot afford not to apply correct amounts of fertilizer during this period of price-cost squeeze on farm income."

Santa Claus Plays Safe

Santa Claus wants to make sure he's healthy before he starts the strenuous holiday season. He's going to have a chest X-ray to be sure he doesn't have TB. Tuberculosis associations, whose work is supported by the sale of Christmas Seals, say every grownup, even Santa, should have a chest X-ray at least once a year.

America's Oldest Handicraft

The art of making fine glassware is the oldest industry in this country. Quality American glass is made entirely by hand. Each operation is performed by a skilled craftsman. The picture shows one of the final processes — putting on the delicate cut work which distinguishes much handmade American glass.

Scientists have shown that cast iron can be improved by adding small percentages of nickel. The nickel makes the metal finer and more uniform in texture, and also increases its strength, wear resistance, toughness and resistance to corrosion.

In the long-range view, coal will become an increasingly important chemical raw material.

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright—1953—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.
Roger W. Babson's Forecast for First Half of 1954

I do not now believe in the theory of most economists—that business will fall off 10 percent in 1954, with a greater decline in net earnings. My feeling is that everyone will unite forces to hold up business, at least during the first half, to its approximate 1953 average. This can be done by expanding research, increasing advertising appropriations, extending further credits, and obtaining labor's cooperation.

But, I say something much more important than the above; namely, if business should slump 10 percent, the decline would probably not stop at a 10 percent. Too many business concerns and individuals are working on a very narrow and slim margin. The decline in employment, with resulting business losses which a 10 percent decline in gross would cause, could result in millions of families being unable to pay their bills and installment obligations. This could set off a chain reaction which could send business down 10 to 30 percent more, with a corresponding decline in the stock market, commodity prices and real estate. In this latter case, the Eisenhower Administration would suffer as did the Hoover Administration.

In view of this possible serious alternative, I have contacted the leading newspaper publishers about as is-as the China man says, "much talkie, no shootie."

There will be one or two resignations from the Eisenhower "businessmen's Cabinet", replaced by "politicians." All is not going too well. The President is not used to being pressured by lobbies.

The first half of 1954 should be your best time to get out of debt or at least reduce your debt. Remember that most bankers are in the business of "loaning umbrellas when the sun is shining, and calling them in when it rains." Moreover, you cannot blame them because umbrellas really belong to the debtors, who also will want them on rainy days! Operate so you can clean up bank loans once during 1954.

The companies which will prosper most are those which have inaugurated effective labor saving programs. Most manufacturers are learning that they cannot beat labor through mere strikes. They are winning only as they purchase new labor saving machinery, spend more money on research and on well-directed advertising.

There may be some further inflation in 1954; but percentage wise to the total national output it should not help the stock market.

What Will Eisenhower Do? I have promised to answer the following four questions:

1. Is Eisenhower to take the advice of Assistant President Adams, representing certain Republican leaders, and turn to the left? Or, will he stick to his conservative election platform?

Answer: He will stick to his election platform.

2. To put the question in a more practical way: Will 1954 be a year of reform and economic adjustment as promised by President Eisenhower, or will he give the country more inflation, and further play Santa Claus to labor, farm, high tariff and other groups?

Answer: He is learning that "economic reforms" must be gradual.

3. Will he run the risk of losing Congress in 1954 and the election in 1956 for a matter of principle, as did Hoover in 1932? Or, will he succumb to the temp

10. The Central and Southwest will not suffer drought as in 1953.

11. There will be no more fear of World War III as years go on. People will gradually move out of certain large cities. Nearby farmland will be split up. A rise in the price of such fringe farm land is certain.

12. The U. S. Government will give less money to the European and other nations direct, but will help them through the United Nations.

13. There will be fewer employed next June, the total take home pay will be less, than last June. This however, may be a good thing for the morale of the nation.

14. The present Administration will suffer much opposition to attempts to reduce tariffs if profits decline or unemployment increases.

15. The Administration and the Labor Leaders will try to revamp the Taft-Hartley Bill during 1954; but bad strikes are coming.

16. I am no weather prophet, but experts expect a warmer winter for the eastern portion of the U. S. and a colder Florida.

17. Canada will continue to boom during the first half of 1954, but this may be a good time to take profits on Canadian investments.

18. The above may also apply to Southern California and its airplane and movie industries. Both may have reached their peaks for the present.

19. Automobiles will be harder to sell and easier to buy during the first half of 1954. Both the automobile stocks and the cars will be in less demand. There will be more bargains in used cars, discounts on new cars, especially cars of the "independent" manufacturers.

20. Florida may have killing frosts during the next few months. This will cheer up California, Arizona and Texas.

21. The Korean situation will remain about as is-as the China man says, "much talkie, no shootie."

22. There will be one or two resignations from the Eisenhower "businessmen's Cabinet", replaced by "politicians." All is not going too well. The President is not used to being pressured by lobbies.

They are winning only as they purchase new labor saving machinery, spend more money on research and on well-directed advertising.

4. Is a "middle of the road" policy practical? Will it serve both groups, or no group?

Answer: Yes, it is practical for working a gradual change, and it should serve both groups.

Order Plant Food Early to Assure Needed Supplies

Well-balanced fertilizer produces extra quality, high yielding corn (left).

IF YOU are aiming at high yields and high profits in 1954, it's time now to order your fertilizer, advises the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. Delay may mean you won't get the plant food you need for next spring's planting operations.

High profit yields depend on supplying the soil with all the nutrients it requires to feed the crops.

Agronomists point out that a sound system of soil management based on increased fertilizer use pays rich dividends on most Corn Belt farms. The trend has been toward high applications of plant food, with many farmers using up to 1,000 pounds per acre.

Corn yields per acre in the Middle West could be boosted at least a third by the teamwork of good management and heavy amounts of fertilizer, these agronomists point out.

Wheat production could be doubled, hay and pasture and soybean yields increased one-fourth.

The higher yields per acre mean lower costs per bushel and greater chances for profit, even with prices declining.

"Some farmers lost out on the higher profits last year because they waited until the last minute to order their fertilizer," says the committee. "In the avalanche of demand during the spring rush period, some farmers missed getting the grades and amounts of fertilizer they needed or got none at all."

"Time is required to make, cure and deliver all the fertilizer farmers can profitably use on their spring-seeded crops. Manufacturers can't squeeze a year's fertilizer production into a four-week rush period."

God in Christ

Lesson for January 3, 1954

IT IS easier for some people to believe in icicles than to believe in God. That's true. You will hardly find anybody except savages in the hot belt along the equator who won't believe in icicles. These winter days you can perhaps see them for yourself. But many people believe in icicles who don't believe in God. In a way this is not surprising. An icicle is right there before your eyes, you see it being made, you know what it is made of. But God is not before your eyes, you can't see him made and you can't say what he is made of except "Spirit" and that isn't nearly as easy to understand as plain water and ice. It would be dishonest not to admit it—it is harder to believe in God than to believe in little things.

Dr. Foreman

The Living Word

Now God knows that. We can say, without irreverence, that God is faced with a kind of dilemma. If he lets things take their natural course, most men will not believe in him, and that will be bad for them. But if he so to speak bursts on mortal men in his full glory, no human mind could endure it. Suppose a very curious and skeptical person who did not believe in atoms because he had never seen one, insisted on a close view of an atomic explosion? He would be vaporized before he knew what hit him. A full view, so to speak, of the Infinite and Omnipotent God would be insupportable by our small minds. It is the glory of God that he has solved this dilemma. He, the Unreadable, has translated himself into the life of man. He the Indescribable has become flesh as John puts it—has become the Christ who can be described. He who is infinitely beyond us has come to live beside us. The God who dwells in Eternity's silence has spoken in many "forms and fragments" in ages past, but now has spoken the perfect Word in Christ. When the church calls Christ the "Word" of God we mean that Christ is what God has to say.

Concern

As has often been said, it is more helpful, and just as true, to say that God is like Christ as that Christ is like God. Christ, we may say, is the knowable, the believable God. God apart from Christ is like an inscription left on a great rock in an inaccessible desert, an inscription in an unknown tongue. God in Christ is written in our own language. It has been said (with pardonable exaggeration) that Christ is the only God the Christian knows. Surely this much the Christian church has always believed: that any notions of God that are out of line with what we know of Jesus are out of line with truth. Now there are many things we want to know about God, and some of these things we really do not need to know. But some things we desperately do need to know—everything hangs on it.

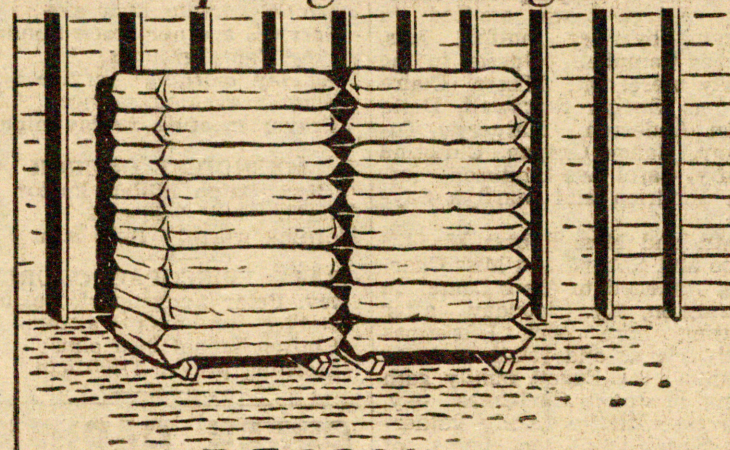

One question is this: Does the high God have any concern for, or concern with the affairs of our little planet? Is he so great that our prayers never reach him, or if they do, give him no concern? Jesus is God's answer to that question. Everything human interested Jesus. Sad things like funerals, glad events like weddings—people's ordinary problems and their great crises—wherever people were, however obscure and "unimportant," there Jesus of Nazareth was concerned. We cannot believe in Christ as God's Word and still fancy an indifferent God.

Power

Another thing that we seriously want to know, is whether God has real power; and if so, what kind it is and how he uses it. There is a notion abroad, strange as it seems, that God is not really the ruler of all, but a sort of candidate for the throne of the universe; a celestial "Bonnie Prince Charlie" who is doing the best he can to gain control but who so far has not succeeded. If he understand and believe that God is like Christ, we can believe that he is in charge of every situation. Men called Jesus "Master" and with good reason. God is master of his universe. And yet we also see that Christ exerted his power in different ways. (More of this in later lessons in John.) He did not act on men in the manner of a lightning bolt.

Winter Fertilizer Storage Beats Spring Shortages

You can store nearly six tons of fertilizer in a 9 x 15 feet space in a shed or barn. Using a base like this (at left) stack bags in piles 8 high, allowing room for air circulation around the pile. Put the bags on cribbing above the floor, a few inches away from walls to protect from moisture. Keep broken bags out of piles.

YOU sometimes hear farmers say they "don't have room to store fertilizer in winter," or they've heard that "stored fertilizer gets out of condition." Actually, most any farm has room to store a ton or two of fertilizer, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. A space 9 by 15 feet in a dry shed or building will hold up to six tons.

"And," adds the committee, "properly stored fertilizer will keep in prime condition until you need it in spring. Advances in fertilizer manufacturing techniques takes out much of the storage risks."

"One or two things need watching. The fertilizer bags should be kept off the ground or off concrete. Put the bags on 2 x 4's or cribbing above the floor. Then the fertilizer won't soak up moisture and get lumpy. Don't stack the bags more than 7 or 8 high. If stacks are higher, the pressure on the bottom bag can cause caking—even if it has been kept dry."

Buying your fertilizer now and storing it has these advantages:

1—The best fertilizer available is the fertilizer made in December, January and February. Manufacturers have more time then to age, cure and condition it.

2—You have your choice of the exact grade and amount you want. The opposite may be true in the spring rush period when everybody is trying to buy fertilizer. When demand is greater than supply, particular grades are hard to get. That happened last year when supplies were put on an allocation basis. Late comers got only a small choice of fertilizer that hadn't had time to completely cure, or they got none at all.

3—Fertilizer bought now is on hand, ready to use as soon as weather conditions permit you to get into the fields in spring. There's no loss of time waiting for delivery when every minute counts.

Here's Six-Point Plan for Doubling Your Corn Yield

Soil fertility is key to doubling corn yields per acre.

MIDWESTERN farmers can double their profit margins on corn by boosting per acre yields through better management methods, the increased use of fertilizer and improved hybrid strains, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The committee lists these steps for getting more bushels of corn from fewer acres:

1—Step up the use of well balanced fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash to give the crop a full feed of nutrients from germination to harvest.

2—Plant a stalk population high enough to match the soil's ability to grow corn.

3—"Fatten" the soil by increasing the input of organic matter. This can be done by expanding the acreage in sod crops, by adding manure, leaving on more crop residues and adding extra nitrogen fertilizer to speed rotting of the organic matter.

4—Improve soil tilth and structure with rotations including well-fed tap-rooted legumes that open tight soils to air and water.

5—Improve drainage by tiling, where necessary. Save more water for crops by contouring and strip-cropping.

6—Plant proved, high yielding hybrid strains.

"It takes all or most of these steps to double yields on Corn Belt farms," says the committee. "But the cornerstone of the whole program is soil fertility built up and maintained by adding heavy amounts of fertilizer."

"The importance of fertilizer was shown by Wisconsin tests which demonstrated that when the corn was fertilized with sufficient nitrogen, phosphate and potash for 100-bushel yields, production on 182 farms averaged 124 bushels per acre, compared to the state average of 60 bushels in 1952."

Crop Rotations Need Full Fertilizer Feed For Top Crop Yields

CROP rotations can't carry the whole load of growing top crop yields. They have to be supported by a full feed of fertilizer, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Rotations are vital in slowing down erosion, building tilth and saving topsoil and water," says a statement issued by the committee. "But a rotation that is only partially fertilized will produce only half to two-thirds as much wheat or corn as continuously cropped land that has been fully fertilized."

"University of Missouri soils specialists got corn yields averaging 97.6 bushels per acre on fully fertilized soil in tests where corn was grown three years in succession. Wheat yields averaged 30 bushels. But made only 76 bushels in a rotation that had lime and a starter fertilizer. Wheat averaged only 15.3 bushels."

Yields zoomed to 111.3 bushels per acre when corn in rotation got a full fertilizer treatment that gave the crop all the balanced nutrients it needed for the entire growing season.

The Missouri agronomists report that well-fed legumes in the rotation add organic matter, mellow the soil, and condition it to make maximum use of the full fertilizer treatment for corn.

A new development in petroleum transportation is the use of aluminum pipe lines. The lightweight lines are said to be easier and less expensive to lay than steel. Lighter construction equipment can be used, the pipe does not require preliminary cleaning, does not have to be

Northern Ill. Gas Co. Files Petition With Ill. Commerce

Another step toward putting Northern Illinois Gas company into business was taken Dec. 24 when a petition was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission requesting authority for the new company to own and operate the gas properties of the Public Service Company Division of Commonwealth Edison Company.

Hearing on the petition, set for January 8, is expected to be routine since no changes in rates or service are involved.

The new company will be an Edison subsidiary with all of its stock initially owned by Commonwealth.

Willis Gale, Edison chairman, said recently that he expected the many details of organization and financing to be worked out by early February. The program is also subject to the effectiveness of a registration statement to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Electric operations of Public Service will be unaffected by the corporate change in the gas properties.

The new company, which will be the second largest gas utility in Illinois, will supply gas to about 450,000 customers in 232 northern Illinois communities outside Chicago.

Mr. Gale will serve as chairman and chief executive officer, while Charles V. Freeman, chairman of Edison's executive committee will also hold the same post in the new gas company.
